What is care?

Care involves tasks that makes living better in interdependence but are often considered petty and unimportant, unproductive, however vital they are for living relations […] "without which our lives do not work out", and the complexity of which makes them difficult to value, to reduce to a schedule, or to enclose in fixed tasks that "start here and end there". Care all the way down.

- Maria Puig de La Bellacasa, quoting Silvia López Gil

A social ecosystem of care

Freedom isn't just:

- Sharing source code.

It is:

- Sharing maintenance of the commons

- Sharing governance democratically

- Sharing sustainable infrastructure

Freedom is not just autonomy, but can be strengthened by interdependence.
